

Bad Hail Storm Strikes Calgary and District East

SWEEPS OVER COUNTRY SIX MILES WIDE DOING MUCH DAMAGE TO GARDENS AND
CROPS—HAIL TWO INCHES DEEP
IN THE CITY.

The heaviest hailstorm that has been experienced in the Calgary district for several years swept out of the northwest upon the city yesterday afternoon, and for 15 minutes played havoc with the gardens in the residential districts and the crops of the farmers in the vicinity of Calgary.

The storm, which started at Calgary at 4:30 started about six miles west of the city, as far as can be ascertained, widened as it came upon Calgary until it reached a maximum width of six miles right over the city, swept off across country as far east as 16 miles south of the city, and some 14 miles directly east of the city.

Considerable damage was done by hail, which in Calgary left large accumulations of ice on the streets, and paralyzed traffic for fully half an hour in the city. The streets were covered to a depth of two inches with large hailstones ranging in size from that of large peas to over an inch in diameter. Motor cars could not use the streets in Calgary owing to the extreme danger of skidding. Intake openings of sewers were blocked by the accumulation of hailstones and numerous miniature floods were started.

Hasbeen's Game is Again Postponed

When the Hasbena game was postponed last Friday evening on account of rain it was the intention to have it played on Friday evening this week. This is now found impossible as a number of the Hat star players intend going to Calgary with the Callets who play a Connaught cup game there tomorrow night. The Hasbena team has therefore been postponed.

Community Singing At Cameo Theatre

The old songs are always the best. You may think they have faded from your memory, but when you hear them played, the words will come back to you out of the past and will bring back fragrant recollections. Each number of the Sing hem Again will introduce three old favorite songs. While the orchestra is playing the verse of each song, scenes appear on the screen, depicted in life motion

This one is called "Lost-We Forget" introducing "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie" and "Mother Machree."

Let's all go and sing on Tuesday.

The Value Of Good Roads

It has been said, and unquestionably truthfully said, that the world has made greater material progress in the last one hundred years than in the preceding one thousand years. The last half of the nineteenth century and the first quarter of the present century has worked a veritable revolution in the lives of people in all civilized countries as a result of the marvelous discoveries and inventions which have marked this period. Advancements made in methods of transportation, in means of communication, in the science of medicine, in systems of education, in forms of entertainments are so manifold and far-reaching that the average citizen of the most interesting character could be written with reference to each of them.

Each new discovery and invention now has an almost immediate effect in relieving the product of a preceding discovery in the scrapheap. In former times it took a long time for a new discovery to find ready acceptance by the people as a whole, and more often than not the inventor was a man without home or recognition by his own generation. In this age, however, new discoveries and inventions are accepted and adopted with unprecedented rapidity, regardless of the effect their adoption may have upon existing customs and organizations, and despite the fact that their adoption means "uprooting" millions of dollars worth of articles and equipment now in use.

It is only necessary to point to the almost universal adoption of the automobile in the short space of two decades, and the even more amazing development of radio since the close of the first war. The effect of one new industry on an older one is shown in the almost complete abandonment of the manufacture of carriages and buggies since the automobile came to the fore, with the popularity of radio has played havoc with the manufacture and sale of phonographs and by bringing lectures, concerts and entertainment of all kinds right into the home, is having a direct effect on attendance at and the financial success of popular forms of entertainment, albeit it has had the effect of enormously widening the circle of people who can enjoy these things.

The automobile is rapidly forcing another development which is having, and is bound to have, an ever increasing influence on our modern life. This is the construction of better roads. No longer can a community be willing to put up with poor, ungraded highways. The automobile has taught people that a poor road is a far greater expense than the cost of a good one. Today bad roads are the accepted sign of an unprogressive, backward community.

The erection of a comprehensive system of good roads, while not in itself spectacular, has a profound influence on the life of any province or country. Combined with the development of other modern conveniences, such as such roads encourage travel within one's own country, thus extending commerce and keeping a broadening influence leading to a removal of financial isolation. Such roads are a big factor in the cost of moving the products of the farm to market centers, either moved by horse drawn or motor driven vehicle.

The development of good roads in Canada is not only enabling Canadians to become better acquainted with their own country, but such development is year by year attracting an ever increasing number of tourists from the United States. The number of touring parties in 1924 was fifty per cent greater than during the preceding year. It is conservatively estimated that last year's list of states tourists expended no less than one hundred million dollars while in the Dominion, a sum which certainly yields a handsome return on the money lavished in their roads.

Canada, with its wonderful scenic attractions, its brighter northern air and finer summer weather will more and more prove an attraction to the people of the United States. To enjoy a real holiday away from the heat and congestion of their large cities. The automobile makes it possible for whole families and tourist groups to roam at will across the country, and the ease of movement which is not possible by rail.

All that is necessary to enormously increase this tourist "inflow" is better roads and more of them. The initial cost of such highways is high, but that they are paying investments, not only in reduced costs of business for our own people, but through the expenditures made by tourists, is being demonstrated wherever such good road systems have been created.

Radio Sets For Arctic

Are Well Equipped

Two different radio sets designed to cover all possible contingencies will be used by the expedition of the Macmillan Arctic expedition this summer.

One of the planes will carry a standard navy aircraft spark set, and the other a short wave radio set, with which remarkable long distance results already have been attained.

The Thiele, known also as a transmitter, will be equipped with two five kilowatt transmitting sets. Through the combination of the expedition expects to be able to keep in touch directly with points in Canada and the United States.

Synthetic Food

Time May Come When Food Will Be Produced By Laboratory Methods

A new era in the history of mankind, when human beings will subsist entirely on food produced synthetically, is forecast by U.S. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, following a successful experiment by his department in which sugar was made by passing light rays through formaldehyde.

It must be made synthetically then starch and numerous other foods probably can be produced through the same chemical process, Hoover declared. He described the sugar-producing experiment as the greatest chemical discovery of the last fifty years, because of the new fields which it opens up and of the possibilities which it holds.

Scientists see the time coming, when through the increase of population, it will be necessary for man to get at least a part of his food through such laboratory production.

British Policy In Palestine

Protecting the Rights of the Arabs as Well as the Jews

British policy in Palestine has been seriously shaken, since the Arabs, to the Jews and to the British public. We are going on steadily with the experiment of the "National Home for the Jews"; we are going at the same time to protect the rights and interests of the Arabs. That the Zionists know, and it is only wishful thinking to repeat the old charge, as the Morning Post continues to do, that the Jews point to the Arabs as the only ones who are not the Arabs out of the country. There are a few Zionist mavericks who want Palestine to be a hundred per cent Jewish, but they count for about as much there as do the handful of Communists here who want England to be a hundred per cent Bolshevik.

The vast majority of sensible Jews the "National Home" means the opportunity of developing their own culture side by side with that of the Arabs. The Arabs have nothing to lose by this any more than by the economic development that the Jews are intended to bring.

The two races in honest co-operation can make a flourishing Palestinian nation, and the prime object of Great Britain, as the mandatory power, is to encourage and assist them to do that—New Statesman.

Urgent Need of Research Work To Overcome Heavy Loss To Farmers From Plant Diseases

R. S. Archibald, director of experimental farms, believes that there is urgent need of research and experimental work. He believes the losses sustained by farmers on account of lack of knowledge in controlling various plant diseases, he is reported to have said:

"The annual losses in our field crops alone reach a staggering total. For example, grain smuts cause an annual loss of upwards of $12,000,000, and grain rusts cause an annual loss of some $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. Losses from potato diseases annually total from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000. Crop production is low in many areas due to insufficient knowledge of moisture control or cultural methods, and for the best of suitable types and varieties of crops. The total amount of these losses is beyond estimation. Crops formerly grown successfully in some parts of Canada are now produced with low yields and high costs.

Production costs in nearly every field, orchard, garden or animal product, are far too high, due to low yields, inferior quality and to heavy and often controlling losses. Canada's prosperity depends largely on agriculture, and in turn agriculture's prosperity depends on our ability to satisfy local markets and export a large surplus of superior quality for export. Unless this surplus is produced at a cost per bushel or head low enough to compete with other exporting countries, then our export trade, in fact, our agricultural prosperity, is curtailed. If not improved."

"There never was a time in Canada's history when careful investigation and experimentation in all the many problems of production and loss, were so much needed nor offered such excellent returns.

"Agricultural experimentation and investigation are not the 'trick' added to model farms, but a means to attain the purpose and almost the entire work of these government-operated institutions."

Estimated Crop-Acreage

May Be Slightly Less Than Last Year In Prairie Provinces

Crop acreage in the western provinces this year will be slightly less than last year, according to the first weekly crop report issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway. According to preliminary figures Manitoba will now about 2,643,000 acres this year; Saskatchewan, 3,553,182; and Alberta, 2,711,687; making a total of 8,907,869, which compares with 9,143,206 in 1923. Saskatchewan is the only province to show an increase this year. New breaking and summerfallow is that province remain about the same as last year. Ploughing however, shows a considerable increase, amounting to 2,835,551, compared with 2,413,216 in 1923.

Dairy Export Trade

Amount of Dairy Products Exported Continue to Increase

Reports of dairy products from Canada last year continued to increase and the aggregate value rose from $23,451,089 in 1922 to $41,551,730 in 1923, according to a report of the federal department of agriculture. Cows exported in 1923 amounted to 123,465, 604 lbs., compared with 114,291,360 in 1922; condensed milk, 45,000,000 lbs., against 41,092,230 lbs.; butter, 32,245,529 lbs., compared with 31,737,711 lbs.; milk powder, 1,554,147 lbs., against 1,431,535; fresh cream, 2,804,822 lbs., compared with 2,664,747 lbs.; and cheese, 57,059 lbs., against 53,150 lbs.

Saskatchewan Foultry

743 Tons of Poultry Shipped From Province Last Year

Foultry tonnage shipped in 1923 from Saskatchewan during 1924 was almost double the total for 1923, according to returns furnished by the transportation branch of the bureau of statistics. In 1923 a total of 363 tons of poultry was shipped from the province, as compared with 743 tons the previous year.

Same Troubles Everywhere

Canada's railway difficulties are not singular. Even in England with its closely knit transportation systems, its congested and crowded passenger cars, two of the most important factors are faced with the necessity of drastic economies in their operating costs. ### Newspapers Eat Trees

Responsibility For Depletion of Forests Lies On the People

The timber from 2,500 acres of land is required each week for America's Sunday newspapers. It takes the pulp-creeper from that much land to provide their newspaper paper. Yet publishing is only one of the hundreds of groups of industries that draw their material from the forest. The glass-lumber industry, with its 20,000 mills, consumes only a third of the wood that is annually removed from the forest. More wood is used for fuel than for lumber. Directly and indirectly the responsibility for depletion of forests rests on every citizen who uses wood in any of its manifold forms. He must assume responsibility for his attitude toward forest products. (They have been too cheap and plentiful to be appreciated.)—Boston Transcript.

His is the most difficult business in the world and the worst paid. What is he, or what are we, going to do about it?—The Independent.

Shipping Western Coal

Heavy Coal Movement Over Canadian National Lines

Seventy-five per cent. of all coal handled out of Western Canada since the year ended March 31, 1925, moved over Canadian National lines, according to figures issued by officials of the C.N.R. In 1924, a total of 2,222,661 tons of coal was handled from the mines during the period, 1,882,270 tons were handled by Canadian National and 340,391 by other lines. The total shipments over Canadian National during the coal year showed an increase of more than 30,000 tons over those of the previous year.

Apiculture in Saskatchewan

400 Registered Beekeepers Now in the Province

Proving that bee population is due for an increase; 120 out of the 400 registered beekeepers in the province having added the provincial department of agriculture of their intention of adding to their apiculture. At present there are approximately 10,000 colonies of bees registered in the province. It is estimated that the bees of 1924 will produce about 40,000,000 in pounds, which will be further increased by 30,000,000 this spring.

Land Settlement

Manitoba Government is Taking a Practical Interest in Immigration Plans

Initiation that the Provincial Government would probably appoint an advisory board to co-operate and assist in the work of the immigration and land settlement agencies in operation was made by Premier John Diefenbaker in a recent conference of representative bodies interested, called to consider plans for encouraging land settlement in Manitoba.

Roadway Fuel Growers

A conference of 14 fuel-growers' associations at Nelson has voted to request the option given by the Associated Growers of British Columbia to have a Kootenay-Arrow Lake territorial pool on all their products, following the demand of the Oil Company to have an Okanagan pool for the first ten days on all early crops. Such early crops will have its own pool, "burning" some of the pool will be the winter territory. The conference endorsed the association's plan for selling to retailers direct.

Must Fill Prairies With British Settlers

Bishop Lloyd Says Foreign Immigration Is Much Faster

Saying that they are assured of a welcome, Bishop G. E. Lloyd, of Saskatchewan, Canada, is in London to start a campaign to get British settlers for new lands in his diocese, most of which is peopled by other nationalities. To a London Daily Mail reporter he said: "Ultimately we shall have the three western provinces of Canada. We do not all them with many British settlers. My diocese has agreed to pay a clergyman to represent us in London, for there must be emigration work now on the part of the church. The British stream of emigrants is too slow. It is not keeping pace with the foreign influx. Instead of the demoralizing delay, I would have 'free' farms maintained by date money. A few months so they would see to it that the small proportion of men who would not succeed in Canada, if it, the economic man wants no experience for 'farm life'."

The bishop has spent six years in Canada, and he says that a man from the British Isles will do no work in the Dominion unless he is swift or does not want to wait.

May Take Canadian Horses

Prospect of Good Market in Germany Is Reported

With the removal of the ban on horse importations into Germany by the government of that country, there may be a market for Canadian horses. They are the latest report of the department of trade and commerce. The other six animals wanted in Germany are the farm type, work horse, and weighing about 1,400 to 1,500 pounds. These horses sell at present for about $60 to $80 marks or $100 to $125 per head. The present date on horses is $21.54 per head for animals valued at less than 1,000 marks.

Less Fruit Grown

Canada's production of commercial fruit for the past year shows a decrease of $5,952,912 in value, as compared with 1923, according to a statement issued by the bureau of statistics. The total value of fruit grown in 1924 was $2,866,331. While the figure for 1923 reached $33,160,212.

How the C.N.R. 1924 Dollar Was Spent

Receives Large Cattle Order

Three Thousand Head From Alberta Going to Kentucky Firm

H. P. Kennedy, president of the livestock producers of Alberta, recently declared that he had received an order for 2,000 Canadian cattle to be delivered next fall to a Kentucky firm, and he pointed to this as proof that Canadian cattle were in demand in the Old Country and were meeting a preference over Irish cattle from Scottish ranchers. He stated that by June 25 his company will have shipped 10,000 cattle to the Old Country from Edmonton.

The operator's error. The United States department of agriculture has prepared a printed bulletin, he says. The cat-crop ranks third in importance. Cattle traditionally constitute the largest herd of the world and three per cent. is not for human consumption. The cat-crop is subject to several diseases, chief of which are mad cow and corn-corn, skin rot, and crown rot.

The trouble was that the intestine operator consistently hit the letter 'c' instead of the letter 'v' and turned 'c' instead of 'v' into 'c'.

Winter Loss Was Small

Alberta Beekeepers Are Laying Good Foundation For Industry

Winter loss among Alberta bees has been small, according to reports received by H. T. Lathrop, of Lethbridge, president of the Alberta Beekeepers' Association. At the experimental station at Lethbridge, which was in the Old Country, more than 10 per cent. of the bees died. The loss here, however, has been so small that the bees have been able to lay a good foundation for the industry in Alberta.

Exports Of Flour

Value of Flour Exported From Canada During Past Eight Months Exceeded Last Year

Exports of flour from Canada during the month of March amounted to 355,240 barrels, with a total value of $1,075,583, which compares with exports of 379,119 barrels, valued at $1,122,000 in March, 1924. ### Would Out British Tonnage

Deliberate Attempt By German Lines To Reduce British Tonnage

"The conditions approximating 'rate war' prevailed among the steamship lines carrying traffic westbound from Europe during March, 1924. The competition was so keen that the British line, which was stated to be the most economical, was forced to reduce its rates to meet the competition of the German lines, which were in the process of increasing their tonnage."

IN THE MELTING POT

CHURCH Union, which unites Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists in to one body as a Christian organization, is now an established fact. The consummation of this Union was not brought about in a day. It is not the outcome of hasty action, in which a snap verdict on the part of those concerned was secured by emotional, sensational or economical arguments, advocated by spellbinders interested in the movement. It is, on the contrary, a conclusion arrived at after years of thought, study, education and cool calculation. True there have been times especially towards the close of the controversy, when both sides have waxed exceedingly warm in their arguments for and against the union. On these occasions things would come out said which would have been much better left undone and unsaid. However now that the controversy is over the sooner will both factions be able to carry on successfully, the work which should claim their chief attention.

Since this Union is not the out come of hasty action, but has rather been accomplished along lines above mentioned, its success should be assured from the start. However, this is no guarantee that it will be a success. The real success of the Union will depend largely on the attitude of the rank and file, who by their votes and action have been responsible for bringing it to the present point. In working out the details of the Union agreement those in sympathy with it must show the same spirit of tolerance, forbearance and thoughtfulness which were characteristic of the leaders of the three denominations when they laid the foundations for the Union, and they must carry on with the same interest, energy, enthusiasm and loyalty which was responsible for the success of their respective organizations in days gone by. In this way only can the United Church of Canada be the success it should be and that all hope it will be.

Upon the shoulders of the leaders and rank of those who are opposed to Union and have decided to carry on what will be known as the continuing Presbyterian church, there also rests a solemn responsibility. With the same spirit and loyalty, they should be and are forgotten. There should not be that co-operation shown by them and to them, which has always existed among all Christian denominations.

For the next few years all concerned in this great movement will be in the melting pot when it is hoped the dross will be skimmed off and the good work go forward shining as pure gold.

EUROPE FOR PEACE

IF ALL goes well there will be a general settlement at the September meeting of the League of Nations, when Germany may become a full-fledged member, and France may have her security pact. So runs the word now this week from Paris Berlin and London. All three capitals are stirred by the prospect of an amicable agreement among Allies and late enemies that will guarantee France from invasion, give Germany her chance to "come back" to the fold of international concord, and bring the tranquillity to Britain that her promoters have been talking about without realizing since Armistice Day.

One thing has impelled Europe to agree on peace at almost any price—the knowledge that none was would be universally disastrous. Once upon a time the heroes were the fighting generals and commanders who stalked through the halls of international conferences with chips on their shoulders and defiance in their eyes.

Not so today. The heroes are the peace-makers, and the people everywhere prize most the men who can pour oil on troubled waters and turn a council of war into a love feast of harmony and goodwill.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

IT IS well to remember that nobody buys goods just to benefit the seller. If a merchant wants to help the community buying at his store, he has to show consumers that it is to their interest to do so.

In other words, he must advertise. That is a word capable of many very different interpretations, some of which may not be adaptable to the circumstances of any one business. But any business can find some effective means of telling prospective customers what it has to offer them. That is advertising, no matter how it is done. It may be done through the columns of the local newspaper, which will of course be used if there is one. Or it may be done by attractive window trims and interior displays, and the use of effective show cards; by circular letters, by word of mouth or in numerous other ways; or by any or all of these mediums together.

But if a merchant expects to succeed, he must tell people what he has. Many country merchants regard the mail-order houses as their most dangerous competition. A mail order house's success is absolutely dependent on its advertising. It couldn't get business at half its present prices if it didn't advertise. It simply couldn't exist without advertising. And yet the mail-order houses are responsible for the success of their respective organizations in days gone by. In this way only can the United Church of Canada be the success it should be and that all hope it will be.

Upon the shoulders of the leaders and rank of those who are opposed to Union and have decided to carry on what will be known as the continuing Presbyterian church, there also rests a solemn responsibility. With the same spirit and loyalty, they should be and are forgotten. There should not be that co-operation shown by them and to them, which has always existed among all Christian denominations.

The bee that gets the honey doesn't hang around the hive.

Ontario's Many Summer Resorts Afford Varied Pleasures

ON BEAUTIFUL GEORGIAN BAY

A QUARTER OF THE BAY

Every summer tens of thousands of visitors seek rest and recreation, health and happiness in the fascinating hinterland of Ontario, where woods and waters abound on every hand, each with its special charm.

An attractive retreat for fishermen in this part of Ontario, is the French River district. Since the erection of a comfortable, commodious bungalow camp which opened in 1925, visitors have flocked there in numbers that have taxed the capacity. Fishing bass, grown strong in the swift waters of the river, and huge muskellunge are caught in large numbers. Other species are plentiful too.

Most of the Ontario places are easily reached from Toronto. The Muskoka and Kawartha chains of lakes are the annual haven of many visiting families who occupy cottages, camps and hotels of varying degrees of comfort and luxury. All enjoy the dry, pine-scented air that is a sure remedy for hay fever. Many resorts have artesian fountains; others delight in sailing and paddling canoes. The summers are all too brief to satisfy these lovers of Ontario's out-of-doors.

Camps hidden miles deep, away from the railway lines, yield exceptionally good fishing and wholesome food. Such a one is Billy Burke's log camp on Trout Lake, reached by an automobile launch ride from Pigeon station. Ke-Wig-A-Mog Lodge, hidden away from civilization, is about 6 miles from Pakenby, and transportation is via the Key Valley Railway, owned by a Milwaukee lumber concern, which operates a railway bus, mounted on railway car trucks, and fitted with a Ford motor for power. At the sawmill town, this is a motor launch that carries guests to Ke-Wig-A-Mog lodge, at six miles, a structure devoted to dining and social affairs. In addition to the Lodge, there are a number of cottages built about an eighth of a mile apart, on both sides of the long, narrow lake, thus insuring privacy. Baited fishing is good here and nearby waters, while Trout Lake affords plenty of small-mouth bass. Ben Echo, an out-of-the-way resort, is reached from Kaledon, Ontario, by automobile which passes along hillside carpeted with blue flowers and seeming to emanate a blue haze. The inn is located on a spit of land that separates the Muskoka Lakes, two lovely sheets of water. They are of great depth and from them rises a sheer rock to over 200 feet, possessed of a three-fold scale. It leaves on one face a bare ridge of Wolf Whinnies, to whom the rock is dedicated. Bass fishing is good. There are two fine beaches one of deep water that delights divers and the other has a vast, level sandy floor with shallow water, and makes a safe, ideal beach for women and children.

Port Ar Huron on Georgian Bay, is unique in that its capacious rustic hotel is located on an island. Fishing, bathing and boating are its noted attractions. Georgian Bay with its thousands of islands and wooded shorelines, is a paradise of beauty and sport, and is sought by many visitors from the States with summer homes on the islands. Those who prefer the mainland, will find a string of summer resorts dotting the shore-line for 180 miles.

New Hope For The World

Lady Aberdeen Refers to Women's Influence in Farming Public Opinion

Addressing the four official languages of the convention—English, French, German, and Italian—she heard of the opening of the seventh triennial session of the International Council of Women at Washington.

Lady Aberdeen declared the organization's strength lay in its constitutional institutions dealing with controversial, political, and religious issues between nations.

"Our special power," she said, "lies in the fact of our mutual aid and international cooperation, based on fuller knowledge and intercourse between the nations and their component parts."

Asserting that the council must strive to gather up the war-worn peoples of the earth "in the arms of an embracing friendship, and to lead them to the light of a new dawn."

"We are struggling for mastery a new hope for the world; the international cooperation brought about through the League of Nations, the International Council of Justice, the International Labor Office, the many humanitarian enterprises, and all nations have joined during recent years, and in which the United States has been so prominent, saving millions of lives, restoring prisoners and refugees to their homes, preventing the spread of epidemics, eradicating diseases, and professions to preserve the intellectual life of Europe, feeding and giving new hope to famishing children and mothers."

Not Attract Wealthy Tourist

Albania presents many points of interest but without the attention of the wealthy tourist. Travelers and guides and monks and Greek monks can be had almost for the asking. It is the sporting country—snipe and woodcock abound on the marshy plains, and in the mountains there are deer and wolves. But the sport is not to be taken, and there is always the chance of getting your coat, out. A wealthy tourist, once invited by an Albanian magistrate to undertake a sporting expedition to undertake a sporting expedition to undertake a sporting expedition.

A Famous Churchyard

Stone Pigeon, Where Every Day in a Country Churchyard Was Written, To Be Preserved

The ten acres of land surrounding Stone Pigeon churchyard, famous through the English-speaking world as the place where Thomas Gray, the English poet and writer, was inspired to write the famous poem, "Elegiac Epitaph on a Country Churchyard," which was recently acquired by public subscription, will be formally handed over to a national trust company.

The deal to ten acres will be ready by Victoria Day of Parliament on behalf of the trust.

The intention is to preserve the natural birthplace of the poetical masterpiece, the "Elegy," and prevent encroachment on the site as a golf course and the title of brick and mortar which has been remorselessly creeping nearer and nearer the famous shrine.

Next to Shakespeare's birthplace, Stratford, and Robert Burns' birthplace, Alloway, Stone Pigeon churchyard is the most popular place of literary pilgrimage in Great Britain. Thomas Gray died in 1771 and was buried here. The churchyard is the place where Gray died, and it is the place where Gray died.

Creation of Wholesale Co-operative Society in Saskatchewan is Proposed

A proposal to form a wholesale co-operative society in Saskatchewan will be submitted to the annual conference of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Association, to be held in Regina, Wednesday, July 29. It was announced, following a meeting of the executive, that the executive went on record in favor of the organization of a co-operative wholesale society in Saskatchewan, believing that the time has now arrived for greater unity, and that the need for the same is vital to the progress of the co-operative trading associations of the province.

W. J. Brummett, director, and Alex. Brown, manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Association trading department met the executive. Mr. Brummett indicated that the re-organization of the S.C.O.A. trading department, which would take place before very long, the co-operative trading associations of the province would be invited to suggest plans for the re-organization with a view to bringing about greater co-operation between the S.C.O.A. trading department and the co-operative trading associations all over the province.

"Amazing studies have been made by some of the co-operative trading associations in Saskatchewan during the past year," said W. J. Brummett, acting markets commissioner.

Steady Decline in Manners

President Columbia University Denies "Characteristics of Age"

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, the president of Columbia University, New York, declares that bad manners are not a characteristic of the present age. "It is perfectly plain," he said, "that there has been a steady decline in manners, particularly among the young, for more than a generation. This shows itself in carelessness and forgetfulness of dress, in shocking speech, in disregard to the amenities and courtesies of life, and in the lack of respect which is everywhere to be seen."

Millions of Dollars Lost Through Rust Every Year

If the $100,000 to be expended in Canada to combat rust is not to be wasted in any degree effective, it will be money well spent and will give returns of a hundred or a thousand fold. But it is one of the most important enemies of the Canadian farmer. Every year it robs him of the fruits of his toil to the extent of millions of dollars. It comes down on his crop like a prairie fire. Today his fields are a mass of rusted grain.

Shorages of Men in England Leads to Unfortunate Results

Many thousands of English girls wish to marry, but because of the shortage of men, have not been able to find their desire, declared Dr. A. Z. Getting the Right Start

Less Chance of Making Mistakes in Later Life

The individual who is started right will continue right. It is, therefore, especially regrettable that when life is marked by poor temptations and lots of character than ever, there should be less of preparation for the experience. The decline of the traditional American mind and of strict moral training has become a familiar theme.

Creation of Wholesale Co-operative Society in Saskatchewan is Proposed

A proposal to form a wholesale co-operative society in Saskatchewan will be submitted to the annual conference of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Association, to be held in Regina, Wednesday, July 29. It was announced, following a meeting of the executive, that the executive went on record in favor of the organization of a co-operative wholesale society in Saskatchewan, believing that the time has now arrived for greater unity, and that the need for the same is vital to the progress of the co-operative trading associations of the province.

W. J. Brummett, director, and Alex. Brown, manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Association trading department met the executive. Mr. Brummett indicated that the re-organization of the S.C.O.A. trading department, which would take place before very long, the co-operative trading associations of the province would be invited to suggest plans for the re-organization with a view to bringing about greater co-operation between the S.C.O.A. trading department and the co-operative trading associations all over the province.

"Amazing studies have been made by some of the co-operative trading associations in Saskatchewan during the past year," said W. J. Brummett, acting markets commissioner.

Steady Decline in Manners

President Columbia University Denies "Characteristics of Age"

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, the president of Columbia University, New York, declares that bad manners are not a characteristic of the present age. "It is perfectly plain," he said, "that there has been a steady decline in manners, particularly among the young, for more than a generation. This shows itself in carelessness and forgetfulness of dress, in shocking speech, in disregard to the amenities and courtesies of life, and in the lack of respect which is everywhere to be seen."

Enemy Of Canadian Farmer

Millions of Dollars Lost Through Rust Every Year

If the $100,000 to be expended in Canada to combat rust is not to be wasted in any degree effective, it will be money well spent and will give returns of a hundred or a thousand fold. But it is one of the most important enemies of the Canadian farmer. Every year it robs him of the fruits of his toil to the extent of millions of dollars. It comes down on his crop like a prairie fire. Today his fields are a mass of rusted grain.

English Girls Would Marry

Shorages of Men in England Leads to Unfortunate Results

Many thousands of English girls wish to marry, but because of the shortage of men, have not been able to find their desire, declared Dr. A. Z. Schofield, a well-known London newspaper, lecturing in Cowen regarding the question of marriage. "There is no other place in the world where such a state of things exists," he said.

Getting the Right Start

Less Chance of Making Mistakes in Later Life

The individual who is started right will continue right. It is, therefore, especially regrettable that when life is marked by poor temptations and lots of character than ever, there should be less of preparation for the experience. The decline of the traditional American mind and of strict moral training has become a familiar theme.

Anyone in Debt Has to Carry a Lighted Lantern Everywhere

One of the many quaint customs among the Chinese is thus explained by Yung Yung in a recent magazine article. It was in the village of the Workers of the New Year's Eve where I spent two months in the household of the Wong family, that I first saw a man go about in the dead daylight with a lighted lantern.

"In this, the fisher, crazy?" I asked a friend.

"Oh, that is only the custom," was the reply. "It means that the man has not been able to pay his debts, and must carry a lighted lantern everywhere until he has done so. Chinese New Year began yesterday, but for him the new year has not dawned—it is still midnight of the old year. He may exchange no New Year greetings until he has settled up his old accounts, and his friends cannot greet him."

English Town Authorities Are Searching For Style of Ancient King

The authorities of Malmesbury, England, are themselves busy, this year, ascertaining the color and the cut of the whickers worn by King Alfred the Great, who died in 899. They have looked through ancient books, studied statues and pored over archives, but up to the present time with no success. They are not discouraged, however, and the search is still going on.
